Walking tour “on the coat of arms route – Mogofores”

Walking through Mogofores / Magfur / Morogos, discover the legend of the witch Moga and the history of the annual pilgrimage to Our Lady of Peace, which has taken place since 1598, when the villagers made a vow to make this pilgrimage to be freed from the plague. The nobility made this land their home, reflected in the various coats of arms found here. One does not belong to the nobility but to the Salesians, who erected the national sanctuary of Our Lady Help of Christians here. A Roman passage? Dunes 25km from the sea? A primordial lake? All discoveries to be made on this walk.

Itinerary:

We begin with a mystery: tradition says that the name Mogofores derives from the witch Moga, a legendary figure who inhabited these lands. Another story refers to the Arab occupation and the ancient names Magfur and Morogos.

The roman road, the Antonine Itinerary XVI from Olisipo (Lisbon) to Bracara Augusta (Braga), passed nearby, which gave more importance to these lands and the settlement of the nobility who left their legacy here, and where we will appreciate the art of heraldry on the facades of the buildings and palaces.

Tradition and faith are also pillars of this community. In 1598, ravaged by the plague, a promise was made for an annual pilgrimage to Our Lady of Peace, in the place called Beco, 35km away, and which has remained alive for more than four centuries.

We also visited the sanctuary of N^a Sr.^a Auxiliadora and went in search of the Pintos chapel in the parish church, where a nobleman and a bishop are buried.

Note: This itinerary is developed and conducted in partnership with local entities, and the final registration price includes the direct costs of the organization (guide, insurance, etc.) as well as partner service costs (meals, etc.). “Trees And Travel – Tourist Entertainment Company” issues an invoice detailing its direct services and acts as an intermediary for the remaining services.

Participant Registration:

- At the time of registration, the participant must provide the following data for insurance activation:

Name; Date of Birth; Tax ID (NIF).

Number of Registrations:

- This number will be limited to the capacity of the organizing entity to ensure the activity runs smoothly.
- Minimum 6 participants and a recommended maximum of 12.

Transfer of Registration:

- Participants may transfer their registration to another person who meets all the requirements for the trip, provided the organizing entity is informed at least 1 day in advance and accepts the substitution. The transfer of registration makes the original and replacement participant jointly responsible for the payment and any additional costs incurred.

Cancellations:

- Pre-registration fee – 15€.

Changes:

- Whenever justified by external reasons, the organizing entity may alter the route order or modify the departure time. If unforeseen circumstances require suspension of the itinerary, participants will always be entitled to a full refund.

Cancellation by the Organizing Entity:

- The organizing entity reserves the right to cancel the itinerary if exceptional conditions arise or if the number of participants is below the minimum required. Participants will be notified within 1 day and reimbursed all payments without any further liability.

Price Changes:

- The program prices are based on the costs of services and exchange rates at the time of printing and are subject to change due to variations in transport or fuel costs, taxes, duties, and exchange rates. Participants will be informed and invited to accept the new price or cancel their registration. Refunds will be issued if the registration is canceled due to price increases.

Cancellations and Refunds:

- If the participant wishes to withdraw from the activity, they must do so in writing up to 1 day in advance; otherwise, they may be required to pay expenses or forfeit the entire amount paid.
- Failure to appear at the pre-established location, date, and time for the start of the activity is considered a withdrawal and results in the total loss of the payment made, with no possibility of recourse.
- Delays of 30 minutes or more beyond the pre-established time are considered a failure to appear.

Conditions for Children:

- Information about conditions for children should be requested. This cycling itinerary is not recommended for those under 14.

Liability:

- The organizing entity's liability is covered by “Personal Accident Insurance (policy AG82655983 Fidelidade)” and “Civil Liability Insurance (RC82655987 Fidelidade)”.

Participant Responsibility:

- Participants must respect the established start times for activities, as well as the intermediate times defined by the guide. Delays, in addition to demonstrating a lack of care for other participants, may result in the inability to participate in part of the activity.

- Participants are responsible for choosing a program that is suitable for their abilities, physical fitness, and health status, and for providing personal information in advance of the activity's start.
- Participants must follow environmental recommendations and legal or established rules while the program is underway, according to the guide's instructions, and respect the rights and privacy of other program participants.
- Participants have a duty not to intentionally damage property belonging to private entities (works of art; animals; agricultural crops; etc.), assuming full responsibility before the competent authorities should they be subject to legal proceedings, releasing the organizing entity from any liability for the act.
- There will be no refund if the participant arrives late to an activity or finishes early, or if they do not enjoy any meal or service included in the program.
- At the time of registration, the organizer must be informed of any specific needs of the participant.

Limitation of Liability:

- The organizing entity is not responsible for bodily injury or property damage resulting from (but not limited to): physical exhaustion due to the program being unsuitable for the participant's physical capabilities; transportation; adventure sports activities; equipment breakage or failure; forces of nature; consumption of alcoholic beverages; arrest or kidnapping; terrorism; lack of or limited access to medication or medical care in remote locations; altitude sickness; and the adequacy of medical care when provided.
- In the event of participant withdrawal for reasons unrelated to the activity, alternative means of transport will be provided for the return to the starting point of the activity, and (provided that the reason is not covered by existing insurance) the costs arising from the return trip will be borne by the participant.

Documentation:

- The participant must have their personal or family documentation in order. The organizer declines all responsibility for lack of documentation. In such cases, the conditions established in the "Withdrawals" clause apply, and the participant is responsible for any and all costs that such a situation may entail.

General conditions:

- The prices for activities do not include (unless indicated and included in the activity): transfers to the activity location; personal expenses (personal expenses include: all purchases or acquisitions outside the program; souvenirs; drinks; tobacco; etc.).

Payment method:

- Cash / Bank transfer / SPIN (CGD) / MB WAY / Paypal If payment is made by bank transfer, registration is only valid once this is confirmed. The participant must inform that they have made the transfer and present the payment slip or proof of payment so that it can be verified in a timely manner and the registration validated.

Use of photographs and images:

- Registration and participation in this itinerary authorizes the transfer of images to the organizer, without the participant having the right to pay for them. The organizer may use these images to illustrate promotional and advertising material for the company, such as catalogs, slides, posters, videos, and the Internet. Whenever minors are involved, the organizing entity undertakes to safeguard their identity as much as possible, publishing only photographs where their recognition is not possible.

Note 1:

These "Terms and Conditions" may be supplemented by any specific conditions, provided they are duly agreed upon by the parties.
